Notice.

DIFFICULTIES arising from the nature of the following work; the publisher has been compelled to remove to Philadelphia for the better execution of his plan. The editorial department has in consequence fallen into other hands. Mr. ALLEN'S present engagement rendering it impossible to superintend it in another city. The friends and relations of the different signers to the Declaration of Independence are therefore requested to direct their favors to the publisher, No. 443, Market-street, Philadelphia.

PROPOSALS

By Joseph M. Sanderson,

For Publishing by Subscription,

A Biography of the Signers

OF THE

Declaration of Independence,

Accompanied with Plates.

To which will be annexed a History of the Proceedings of Congress, during the passage of the Law, and the Declaration itself, with the fac simile Engravings of the Signatures.

By JOHN SANDERSON.

TO THE PUBLIC.

When we consider the personal qualities of the statesmen whose names are affixed to the Declaration of Independence, the perilous occasion which demanded the exertion of their wisdom and deliberation, and the influence of their councils on the interests of mankind, we must acknowledge that very rarely a more imposing spectacle has been offered to the world, and we shall seek in vain in the annals of nations, for an event more worthy of commemoration, and of being cherished forever in the hearts of a grateful and generous people. The love of independence is interwoven with the frame and constitution of the human mind. It is almost the first sentiment that animates the infant's features in the cradle; and amongst all the actions and enterprizes of man, none has awaked into activity a greater exertion of the virtuous energies of his nature, none has excited a greater warmth of veneration, and has more imperious claims upon our gratitude, than resistance to tyranny and political aggression.

In all republican states the first tribute of genius has been paid to the patriot or the hero who has promoted the cause of liberty and maintained the independence and dignity of man. The animated canvas and breathing marble have rescued his features from the grasp of death, and the pen of the historian has inscribed the achievements to the imperishable records of fame. It would indeed be no favorable prognostic of the perpetuity of our republican institutions to discover an insensibility to the obligations we owe the memory of the illustrious patrons of American freedom. They have raised us, by their magnanimity, from the arbitrary dominion of a foreign power, to the distinguished elevation of a sovereign and independent people; they have asserted and maintained the imprescriptible rights of humanity by the "mutual pledge of their pledge of their lives, their fortunes and their sacred honors;" and, as long as virtue holds her empire in the hearts of their successors, the example of these generous benefactors will not be lost to the world; their names will not pass away nor be forgotten, or their glorious deeds be confounded in the common and casual transaction of life.—Ingratitude is a vice that in nations, as well as individuals, indicates the last degree of degeneracy and corruption; it is a vice that implies the absence of every virtue; it was in the age of Caligula that the name of the Scipios was proscribed, that the state of Brutus brought death on its possessor.

"The glory of our ancestors is the light of posterity," and the homage of the living cannot be offered to the merits of the illustrious dead with an effectual or sterile admiration. Great and splendid actions will seldom be achieved by men who have humble or ordinary objects in prospect. It is by contemplating the life and character of those who are marked out from the multitude by their eminent qualities, that we become emulous of their virtues and their renown. The trophies of Miltiades interrupted the sleeps of Themistocles; and Theseus, hearing the exploits of Hercules, was fired with his spirit, and became the successful rival of his fame. The rude savage of the desert listens with rapture to the deeds of his ancestors, and hangs around his hut the emblems of his father's valour.

More need not be said to enforce the utility of the publication we have undertaken, and which we now submit to the patronage of our fellow-citizens, with a hope, that from the liberality of their encouragement, we shall be able to present it to the public worthy of their approbation. We must depend for the illustration of many of the characters of our biography, upon the generosity of their surviving relatives and friends, to furnish us with whatever interesting materials may be in their possession; for which, with our grateful acknowledgments, we promise a copy of the entire work as a compensation.

CONDITIONS.

I. The work will be published in numbers or half volumes of 200 pages, octavo, and contained in ten numbers. To the first will be prefixed an appropriate frontis-piece—and the work will be commenced with the declaration of independence, with engraved facsimiles of the signatures, and a compendious detail of the proceedings of congress, during the passage of the law. Each of the lives, unless when it is impracticable, will be preceded by a likeness of the person, engraved by the best artists in the United States.

II. It will be printed on fine paper, made expressly for the purpose, and delivered to subscribers at two dollars and fifty cents per number, payable on delivery.

STANZAS.—BY A LADY.

Strong and chill is the death-blast,
Friends are departing fast,
Leaving the world to strangers and to me;
Where all is so bitter cold,
Ah, me! the heart grows old,
Long ere the dark locks whitened should be.

In many a dwelling,
A dread voice is telling,
That the bright eye is quenched, and dark coffin closed;
That chill, chill and rigid now
Is the beauteous brow,
Where thought in the sweetness of virtue reposed.

The torch was extinguished soon,
That lightened yon gay saloon,
Where genius awoke the warbling wire;
There the death-couch is spread,
There the summer chaplets fade;
The minstrels are dumb—Oh, break ye the lyre!

The canker worm may consume,
Of beauty the early bloom,
And blight the gay flower-crown of youth and of love;
But even its fatal breath
Can ne'er taint the victor-wreath,
That is twined for the saints in the palm-bowers above.

Though tears for the dead,
Warm as life-blood be shed,
As we linger and watch where their cold ashes lie;
Yet even there on the heart,
Ah, never to depart,
Beams the bright star of Hope, the Day-Spring from on high.

The tears cease to flow;
The wild pulse of woe
Forever is hushed in the heart and the brain:
Again from these lips,
As in death's dark eclipse,
They forbid us to weep—"We shall yet meet again!"

Children of love and light,
Oh, but your robes are bright!
Were ye ere the vestments of sin and of woe?
Oh, yes.—Then to Him
Who did you redeem,
Let the high song of praise to eternity flow.

THE CHRISTIAN'S DEATH.

The decline of the righteous is like the setting of the glorious sun; though each leaveth us in darkness, yet is their splendor unextinguished. When, therefore, we mourn at their departure, we mourn not for them but for ourselves. And when we contemplate the life of a christian friend, the pleasing recollection of his spotless purity of character, and unshaken sincerity of his christian piety, cheers our desponding spirits, and sweetens the cup of affliction.

SELECT PASSAGES.

There are pleasures to be met with in this journey of life, pure and sublime ones too, if we look for them through the medium of unvitiated taste. Did you ever discharge a social duty, but upon looking into the heart you there perceived a glow of satisfaction? But if you aim at more exalted, more rapturous sensations, give full scope to the impulses of benevolence: try what it is to heal the broken-hearted and disconsolate; diffuse joy through the mansions of sorrow, and rescue merit from the pressure of indigence and misfortune. These employments are capable of yielding pleasure suitable to the most exalted capacities, boundless as the most sanguine imagination can paint them.

In the country, the mind borrows virtue from the scene. When we tread the lofty mountain, when the ample lake spreads its broad expanse of waters to our view, when we listen to the fall of the torrent, the awed and astonished mind is raised above the temptations of guilt; and when we wander amid the softer scenes of nature, the charms of the landscape, the songs of the birds, the mildness of the breeze, and the murmurs of the stream, soothe the passions into peace, excite the most gentle emotions, and have power to cure all sadness, but despair! Can man forbear to smile with nature? Can the stormy passions in his bosom roll, while every gale is peace, and every grove is melody?

As the stone which rolls down the declivity acquires greater force and velocity the nearer it approaches to the vale, so the mind which once deviates from the path of rectitude sinks, by rapid degrees from dissipation to error, from error to vice, and at length perpetrates, without remorse, crimes which it once shuddered at the idea of.

History paints characters, acute observation anatomizes them.

ALEXANDRIA:
MONDAY MORNING, December 6.

The Secretary of War (says the National Intelligencer,) reached the city on Friday last, with his family. Our readers will be pleased to learn that, although very much reduced when he commenced his journey from the place where he had lain ill, Mr. Calhoun's health had since gradually improved, and is in a great degree restored.

From the Richmond Compiler, Nov. 2.

TRIAL OF RICE.

It will be in the recollection of our readers, that some weeks ago we stated the mysterious circumstance of a man's offering at the Bank of the United States, a check drawn by the treasurer of the U. S. on this Bank—which check had been transmitted by mail to the Parent Bank of Philadelphia.—We stated also, that on searching his papers, there was found the half of a 100 dollar note, which had also been put into the mail by Mr. Fisterol this city, for Mr. Johnson of Philadelphia.—Some other papers were also particularized, which were found in his pocket book. The name of this man was Rice, formerly a slater in this city. He was taken before the Chief Justice of the United States and committed to jail for trial at the Federal Court to meet in this city in November.

The court is now in session—and Rice has been tried. It was proved that those papers were found upon him—It was proved that they had been put into mail; and it devolved upon the accused to show that he had come fairly by them. He was unable to exhibit any testimony to that effect—and the Jury accordingly found him guilty of robbing the U. S. mail. He is sentenced to the Penitentiary for seven years.

The example ought not to be overlooked. Those who have been engaged in robbing the mail, have proved very unfortunate in their speculations. Witness the Mail Robbers at Baltimore—Witness those at New-York—Witness the unfortunate Rice.

Norfolk, Nov. 20.

Our latest advices from Spain inform that General Bonavia, the third minister appointed to the United States, has also refused the office. Some of the officers of the garrison at Gibraltar have received letters from their friends in England, informing them that it is believed their regiments will be ordered to Cuba. [Herald.

Baltimore, Dec. 3.

The armed Patriot brig Puerridon, arrived at this port, on Thursday night, after a successful cruize (as we are told) having boarded 97 vessels of various descriptions, only three of which she manned. The Puerridon is last from Margaretta, performing the passage in 18 days. In an engagement with the Portuguese ship Augusta, 11 of the crew of the Privateer were killed & wounded, the captain among the latter. The first officer and boat's crew of the Puerridon were detained at Margaretta. [Fed. Rep.

New-York, Nov. 30.

FIRE ON BOARD THE QUEBEC.

About two o'clock on the morning of the 15th inst. the Steam-boat Quebec, on her passage to Montreal, took fire in the cook-room. Some of the gentlemen and most of the ladies on board took immediately to the barge, and proceeded to the steam-boat Malsham, which was then about a mile a-head. The remainder of the passengers with the captain and crew succeeded in their efforts to extinguish the flames. Much praise is given to Captain Hall and the passengers for their unremitted perseverance in the hour of danger. No person on board received any injury, and the steam-boat itself sustained no very essential damage.

New-Orleans, Oct. 30.

There appears to be organized bands of robbers in the city, whose nightly depredations are calculated to spread alarm among the inhabitants. Within the present week several houses have been broken open and robbed, among which is that of colonel Morgan, the sheriff. On Thursday night an attempt was made to burst into the store of Mr. Pierpont, in Canal-street, but when the villains were on the point of succeeding, they were alarmed and driven away by a young man, who had been sleeping in the adjoining store.

Savannah, Nov. 24.

SHIPWRECK.

The Look-Out pilot boat, Sisson, come up from below last evening, informs us that he saw a boat in the morning, pulling for Tybee, with several men on board, who told him they were from the hermaphrodite brig Ann, from Providence, R. I. which vessel had gone on the Gaskin Bank the night before, and had totally gone to pieces. As it was blowing very fresh, could not understand from them whether any lives were lost. Mr. Sisson saw several pieces of the wreck, barrels, &c. afloat.

St. Lewis, October 27.

MISSOURI EXPEDITION

By a gentleman from the Council Bluffs, we learn, that Dr. Say, and the party who proceeded by land, had arrived in safety at the Council Bluffs, and met with no further difficulty from the Indians. The Indians, in the vicinity of the Council Bluffs, were peaceable and friendly. The keel boats, with all the troops, except those who went in the steam boat Jefferson, had arrived, and the scientific party had determined to winter at the Bluffs. The steam-boat Experiment lay near Sugar-Tree Bottom, about 8 miles above Cow Island, aground. The Johnson lay between Fort Osage and Cow Island.—They had abandoned the idea of progressing further. The Missouri is extremely low, and it was with the greatest difficulty that even the keels proceeded. The winter quarters at the Bluffs were rapidly progressing. One of the keel boats, with quarter-master's and ordnance stores had sunk. The whole of the cargo lost, but all the persons on board escaped.

MAMMOTH.

Four of the teeth of a Mammoth, or some very large animal, were brought to this office last Friday, by Levi Howell, esq. They had been dug up on Saturday, the 13th inst. from about two feet under ground, on the edge of a brook, in his meadow, in Oxford townsnip, near Hope, in this county—two of the teeth weigh each three pounds, the other two weigh about two pound each—some bones were also found with the teeth, most of which crumbled to pieces: one was measured after it had crumbled considerably, and still measured twenty inches round it. This was thought to be a part of one of the tusks.

STATE OF ENGLAND.

The ministerial papers at length have begun to acknowledge their alarm. The Times of October 23, remarks; that it never had more important facts to communicate respecting the internal concerns of the nation than those then exsisting. In noticing the new levy of ten thousand men, and the dismissal of Earl Fitzwilliam for disaffection, the Times observes,—"These are striking circumstances, and calculated to make us look about us, and ask, with anxious apprehension, what will come next? the Courier of October 19, declares that the character of the opposition becomes of more and more importance—talks of trembling for the fate of the country, in case of "any want of vigilance or courage of the government," and observes that the rulers have evinced their "sense of the present awful times."—Another London paper, under the head of "Alarming state of the country," speaks of the state of the country as unprecedented—as of fearful import—and so dreadful, that no man of common sense can view it without a horrid presentiment of of the future—and proceeds to give a horrid picture indeed, of Ecclesiastial imbecility, and political corruption; disrespect of law; the nobility degraded; the people poor and desperate; the government blind and stupid; the ministry madly advancing to destruction; stocks rapidly falling, and revenue fast diminishing.

CURIOUS SIGN-BOARD.

Upon the door of a house, near Bridgewater, occupied by a father and son, the former a blacksmith and publican, the latter a barber, is a sign board, with the following inscription: Burness & Son, Blacksmith and Barber's work done here, horse shoeing and shaving; locks mended and bare curling, bleeding, teeth drawing and other farriery work. All sorts of spiritus likers akording to the late comical trety. From the Norfolk Herald.

FROM SPAIN.

By the Hornet we have received late advices from Spain, through the politeness and attention of a friend in that quarter, extracts from which we give below. A few days ago we announced with confidence the existence of a secret treaty between Spain and Great Britain, which stipulated for the transfer of the Floridas to the latter. It will be seen, from what follows, that such a treaty was negociated, but, like our own, not ratified.

October 18th.

"The post from Madrid is just arrived. My letters are to the 12th from there, informing me that on the 9th, the day limited by Mr. Forsyth for the final determination of the king as to signing the treaty, the Spanish Secretary of state made his answer to the demand of our Minister in the following pithy and genteel terms. "That H. M. adhered to his former resolution of appointing an Ambassador to the United States, where his objections to the treaty would be made known. And as his powers would embrace every object, he would of course hear what the President had to say—but here H. M. would not ratify the treaty.' This is plain English, and for Spanish diplomacy pretty short and terse.

"Captain Reid left Madrid the 13th. Mr. Forsyth is to remain there until he receives further orders.

"The Mareschal de Campo, Don Francisco Dionisio Veves, is named as envoy extraordinary to the United States on this occasion, and it is believed he will except the office, and set out on his mission,—some of these days.

"I have the treaty of 1814 between England & Spain, which I mentioned to you, but discover that it was never ratified—by which party I know not. Here, now, we are set on a curious enquiry to find out under what treaty the "foreign inlistment bill," of the last parliament was made necessary. To this treaty of 1814 there were secret articles, the only important one of which was, that England should not allow supplies or assistance to be afforded to the revolted colonies in S. America. But this treaty was not ratified, of course created no obligation for England to adopt such a measure. Then what treaty has been made since? And what recompense does England get from Spain for the foreign enlistment bill, so manifestly against her interest, as regards her relations with Spain and her colonies? This mystery will be developed soon * * * * * * * *

"It is said the government of Spain had the modesty to request of Captain Reid, in Madrid, to give a passage to a minister to the United States!—And the still greater modesty to require that the United States shall not now or at any time hereafter, acknowledge any of the revolted colonies of S. America, as independent states!

"It is perhaps, a premature report, that Mr. Forsyth demands his passports if the treaty is not accepted. He will probably remain to receive orders from his government, after the meeting of Congress. If their resolutions will have no effect on Spain, they have only one alternative left, an open declaration of war; take all the territory you have contended for, to the Golorados, or the Rio del Norte—pay your citizens for Spanish spoliations, &c. as liberally as circumstances would justify, and let his Catholic Majesty make war for it if he pleases. The Spanish people will be delighted if he should—It would be the harbinger of peace & freedom to them in three months afterwards.

"I have just time to give you the contents of my Madrid letters of the 15th.—They confirm my suggestions as to the probable time of the departure of Gen. Vives, the new minister, for Washington. "Gen. V. (says my correspondent) was lately appointed to the expedition at Cadiz, in the room of Sarsfield, removed, and is somewhere in Andalusia—of course he will have to go through a long quarantine before he can enter Madrid; then he will require some time to be instructed in the business he is going upon, for he knows nothing about our country or the nature of the dispute.—He may also expect some detention to get money for his out fit—and then he has to obtain an absolution for his sins—the blessing of his confessor against the perils of a foreign and distant service, the protection of the holy Inquisition and the fellowship of the Pope. So that upon the most moderate calculation, he will not be in readiness to embark before next summer; that is to say, if he accepts the appointment, which he may not do, three others of equal distinction having already refused it." He may possibly arrive at Washington about the time the representatives from Florida arrive there to take their seats in Congress.

"The Spaniards are not to be driven out of their own way of doing things, and so long as our government content themselves with words, in whatever language they may be couched, we shall never make any thing of them.

"The same discord prevails in the councils of Spain, among the present ministers as before the Duke San Fernando's appointment, and some think already, that the Duke won't retain his situation many days longer.

"Nothing is talked of here but the entrance of the new Queen, and the royal marriage which is to be celebrated the 21st.—The affairs of America can never be compared with the possession of a ribbon or a star, and we shall probably hear no more about the matter till we are again roused either by despatches or something more effective from Washington.

"We have all eyes open for the Peacock. The Commodore with his squadron waits her arrival, and immediately afterwards the Erie, Captain Stockton, will sail for America.

"Accounts from Cadiz represent the mortality by fever still at 600 per day, but great hopes are entertained that the cool weather now set in will destroy it."

FROM FRENCH PAPERS,---TRANSLATED FOR THE NATIONAL INTELLIGENCER.

A patriotic meeting of young merchants took place at Marseilles on the 25th August last. After dinner, the following toasts were drank with enthusiasm:

1st. To Liberty. 2d. To Washington. 3d. The constitutional King. 4th. Artigas and Bolivar. 5th. The propagation of liberal ideas. 6th Gen. La Fayette.

EXTRACT OF A LETTER DATED AT MADRID, AUG. 30, 1819.

Threatened by a war with the United States, by the plague at Cadiz, and by the invasion of the Guerrillas in the southern provinces, where the mails are intercepted, our state of uneasiness is by no means imaginary. Whilst travelling, a short time ago, in the province of Estremadura, I was surprised in a tavern, by the arrival of Melchior's band. He is a man of about 45 years old, and of firm decision. They conversed on the subject of polititals affairs. I expressed my sorrow at the bad government of Spain. He interrupted me by the narrative of the following allegory:

"Know you, that when God created the world, and had divided it among several nations, he assembled their representatives in order to know whether they were satisfied with their respective lots: each one of the nations made its remonstrations; each one presented its requests. The French obtained the vaudeville; the English the spleen; the Portuguese, jealousy. When it came to Spain's Cortes, they asked for the best wines, fine crops, wool, cocoa, saffron, gold, and silver. And do you ask for nothing more? said the Creator.—We further ask for a good government. As to that, you will not obtain it, as something must remain for other nations."

After we had heartily enjoyed that popular tale, Melchior resumed his gravity, and expressed a great desire to contribute, as far as in his power, to giving a better government to his country; a resolution he will doubtless maintain to the last. [Ibid. 14 Sept.

THE SKETCH BOOK.

The fourth number of this popular work has appeared. It contains three articles—The Mutability of Literature, Rural Funerals, and the Spectre Bridegroom. From the second of these Sketches, the following closing remarks are selected :—

"I have dwelt upon this beautiful and rural custom, [decorating the graves of friends with flowers] because, as it is one of the last, so it is one of the holiest offices of love. The grave is the ordeal of truly human affection. It is there that the divine passion of the soul shows its superiority to the instinctive attachment of the brute; for the love of the animal must be continually refreshed by the presence of its object, but the love of the human soul can live on long remembrance!

The sorrow for the dead is the only sorrow from which we wish to be divorced.—Every other wound we seek to heal—every other affliction to forget: but this wound we consider it a duty to keep open—this affliction we cherish and brood over in solitude. Where is the mother that would willingly forget the infant that perished like a blossom fro[m] her arms, though every recollection is a pang? Where is the child that would willingly forget the most tender of parents, though to remember be but to lament?—Who, even in the hour of agony, would forget the friend over whom he mourns?—Who, even when the tomb is closing upon the remains of her he most loved, and he feels his heart, as it were, crushed in the closing of its portal, would accept consolation that was to be bought by forgetfulness?—No, the love which survives the tomb is one of the noblest attributes of the soul. If it has its woes, it has likewise its delights; and when the overwhelming burst of grief is calmed into the gentle tear of recollection—when the sudden anguish and the convulsive agony over the present ruins of all that we most loved, is softened away into pensive meditation on all that was in the days of its loveliness—who would root out such a sorrow from the heart? Though it may sometimes throw a passing cloud even over the bright hour of gaiety, or spread a deeper sadness over the hour of gloom; yet who would exchange it even for the song of pleasure, or the burst of revelry? No, there is a voice from the tomb sweeter than song.—There is a recollection of the dead to which we turn even from the charms of the living. Oh the grave! the grave!—It buries every error; covers every defect; extinguishes every resentment. From its peaceful bosom springs none but fond regrets and tender recollections. Who can look down upon the grave of an enemy, and not feel a compunctious throb, that ever he should have warred with the poor handful of earth that lies mouldering before him!

But the grave of those we loved—what a place for meditation! Then it is that we call up in long review the whole history of virtue and gentleness, and the thousand endearments lavished upon us almost unheeded in the daily intercourse of intimacy;—then it is that we dwell upon the tenderness, the solemn, awful tenderness of the parting scene—the bed of death, with all its stifled griefs, its noiseless attendance, its mute, watchful assiduities—the last testimonies of expiring love—the feeble fluttering, thrilling, oh! how thrilling! pressure of the hand—the last fond look of the glazing eye, turning upon us even from the threshhold of existence—the faint, faltering accents struggling in death to give one more assurance of affection!

Aye, go to the grave of buried love, and meditate! There settle the account with thy conscience for every past benefit unrequited—every past endearment unregarded, of that departed being, who can never—never—never return to be soothed by thy contrition!

If thou art a child, and has ever added a sorrow to the soul, or a furrow to the silvered brow of an affectionate parent—if thou art a husband, and hast ever caused the fond bosom that ventured its whole happiness in thy arms, to doubt one moment of thy kindness or thy truth—if thou art a friend, and has ever wronged, in thought, or word, or deed, the spirit that generously confided in thee—if thou art a lover, and has ever given one unmerited pang to that true heart that now lies cold and still beneath thy feet;—then be sure that every unkind look, every ungracious word, every ungentle action, will come thronging back upon thy memory, and knocking dolefully at thy soul—then be sure that thou wilt lie down sorrowing and repentant on the grave, and utter the unheard groan, and pour the unavailing tear, more deep, more bitter because unheard and unavailing.

Then weave thy chaplet of flowers, and strew the beauties of nature about the grave; console thy broken spirit, if thou canst, with these tender, yet futile tributes of regret;—but take warning by the bitterness of this thy contrite affliction over the dead, and be more faithful and affectionate in the discharge of thy duties to the living."

Happiness and virtue are twins which can never be divided.

Round Hill for Sale.

BY virtue of a deed of trust from Daniel M'Pherson and wife to me, under date of the 30th of May, 1816, and for the purposes therein prescribed, I shall sell at public auction, on the premises, on FRIDAY, the 10th of December next, a tract of land, in the county of Fairfax, known by the name of lying on the stage or Colchester road, distant about 6 miles from Alexandria, and containing 148¾ acres, more or less;—reserving, however, to George Triplett his right to one moiety of the dwelling house and yard. This land has been very considerably improved by judicious cultivation, and there are now growing crops of small grain upon it.

Also, one other tract, being an equal undivided moiety of a tract of land in the said county, contiguous to the foregoing, and supposed to contain 25 acres 2 poles.

The terms of sale will be, viz.—one third of the purchase money to be paid in CASH, at the time the property is struck off to the bidder, at whose risk the property will be immediately resold, if the money be not paid. One third payable in six months; & the remaining third in 12 months, to secure the payment of which, a lease on the property will be retained.
nov 10 J. L. McKENNA, Trustee.

Extracts from a Law

Of the Corporation to provide for the speedy extinguishment of Fire, &c.

Sec 1. That every proprietor of any dwelling house, or store house within the limits of the corporation, shall, at his or her own expence, provide as many fire buckets, made of good and suitable leather, and containing at least two and a half gallons, as shall be equal in number to the stories in such house. Provided, That no proprietor shall, in any case be compelled to provide more than three buckets for one house. Every proprietor who shall neglect to procure the proper number of buckets in the manner herein directed, shall forfeit and pay one dollar per month for each bucket he shall so neglect to procure. The proprietors of all dwelling houses and store houses which shall hereafter be erected within the corporation, shall furnish the same with buckets in the manner before prescribed, within two months after such houses shall be occupied; or failing to do so, shall be subject to the penalties before mentioned.

2. Where the proprietor of any dwelling house or store house residing out of the limits of the corporation, shall neglect to comply with the requisitions of this act, the occupier of such house shall within two months after coming to the possession thereof, procure the necessary buckets; and failing to provide the same, shall be subject to the like penalties as are in such case imposed on the proprietor.

5. It shall be the duty of the superintendent of police, once in six months at least, to visit the houses within the limits of the corporation to examine and take an account of the buckets belonging to such houses, and to report to the mayor the names of all persons who shall neglect to provide and keep the same, according to the requisitions of this act

Fifty Dollars Reward.

RAN AWAY from the subscriber, on Thursday, the 11th inst. a negro man, named DICK, who sometimes calls himself Dick Douglas. He is a small man about 5 feet 6 inches high, and is not a very black man. I purchased him from the estate of Edgar McCarty, esq. Cedar Grove, Fairfax county, Va. and it is likely that he may be lurking about that neighborhood or Colchester, as he has a wife at capt. Berry's of the latter place; or he may have gone to Loudoun county, as he has lived there in the neighborhood of Wm. McCarty and John McCarty, near Leesburg. He had on and took with him an old grey cloth coat and a brown do pantaloons of drab colored domestic cloth. He is much addicted to liquor, and is a coarse shoemaker. I will give 20 dollars if taken in the district of Columbia. Thirty dollars if taken in Fairfax county, and the above reward if apprehended in any other place, and secured so that I get him again; and reasonable charges if brought home. WM. B. STUART.

100 Dollars Reward.

RAN away from the subscriber living in King George's county Va. on Monday the 22nd March, a yellow man named about 22 years of age, his fore teeth wide apart, and cannot speak very quick—had on Virginia cloth clothes and carried off a shaggy great coat, he has a father named Peter Hall, who lives with the widow Morgan, at Oak Hill, Fauquier Co. and his grandfather, old Frederick Hall, is supposed to be living at Mr. Terrett's near Alexandria, and it is likely he may be lurking about there.—I will give the above reward for apprehending and securing said fellow so that I get him again, and reasonable charges if brought home. J. H. WASHINGTON.

JAMES,

Masters of vessels and others are forewarned against harboring or carrying off said fellow tf June 14

100 Dollars Reward.

RAN AWAY from the subscriber, living near Aldie, Loudoun county, Virginia, on the night of the 11th inst. a negro man, who calls his name NED BIAYS. He is a shrewd, intelligent negro, about 5 feet 7 or 8 inches high; 30 years of age, well made, active and polite. Had on when he went away, a sky colored coat, and corded pantaloons. His right eye sore, apparently occasioned by a blow, the blood having settled around it. His ears have been pierced, and had green silk in them when he went away. It is expected he is now lurking about Fairfax court-house and Aldie. The above Ned Biays ran away on the night of the 25th of last Aug and was caught on the 11th inst. on the night of which he effected his elopement by drawing the staple to which he was fastened by the handle of a pan while there was no person in the kitchen but himself. He was caught on the 11th inst. a few miles below Aldie, but I think it improbable that he has gone near the same place again. I will give 100 dollars if he is taken out of the county, and fifty if taken in the county, and secured so that I get him again, and all reasonable charges if brought home. GEO. GULICK.
P. S. It is supposed that the said negro has obtained papers of freedom, or a free pass, or something of the kind. G. G.

100 Dollars Reward.

I WILL give the above reward to any person who will return to my possession, negro LAWRENCE, who assumes the sirname of FENWICK. This fellow left my farm, on the Wicomico river, in Charles county, Md. on the 6th July, in consequence of his own outrageous conduct towards my overseer. He is a negro of a fine erect figure, good features, asmooth black skin, rather above the middle stature, of a youthful appearance for one of thirty years of age, and of great plausibility and natural smartness. His ears grow remarkably close to his head, and on the inside of his lower lip he has a white mark or spot. I purchased him 4 years ago of the estate of Mrs. P. H. Courts, of this county. I am led (by circumstances which have come to my knowledge since he absconded,) to believe that he will endeavor to make his way to King George county, Va.; should he not take this route, he will probably be met with in the District of Columbia, or in the upper counties of this state, on his way to Pennsylvania. I apprehend he will change his name, and if committed to jail, refuse to state to whom he belongs, as the misconduct which preceded his departure, & his absconding, have all appeared since to have been premeditated. He took all his clothes with him, of which he had a large number; among them—a new bearskin over-coat, a long close-bodied blue coat, a pair of striped jean pantaloons, one or more white waistcoats, besides many articles of coarse cloathing; these, however, he will probably exchange, or sell them for cash to defray his travelling expenses.
I will give the above reward to any person who will bring him home to me, or FIFTY DOLLARS if confined in jail, and notice given me, so that I recover him.—Should he be taken out of the state, I will also pay all reasonable costs and charges which may attend the bringing him home.

100 Dollars Reward.

RAN AWAY on the 25th of April last, a man called NED, formerly the property of Mr. Fitzhugh, of Fairfax, and by him sold to Hepburn & Dundas. He had on when he went away an old country blue and white cloth coat, and kersey trowsers—his right hand in a sling, in consequence of the kick of a horse. Ned is a stupid looking fellow, and hesitates very much when he speaks. I will give fifty dollars if apprehended in the District, or the above reward for apprehending him out of the District, so that I get him again.

S. Drew, Merchant Tailor,

Removed from Fairfax-street to the corner of King and Columbus streets, and his prices falling.

RESPECTFULLY acquaints his customers and the citizens in general that he has removed as above, where he will study to give satisfaction. He has by him a small but well assorted stock of goods, which will be found on inspection to be of the best quality, the whole of which he wishes to sell low for cash, and as further inducements to purchasers he offers to cut out any goods, bought of him to any size or pattern gratis.
S. Drew aware, of the advantage a ready money business has over one where long credit is given, thinks that a distinction ought to be made in the prices in each case: and as the price of provisions are low at present, he is glad to be able to announce to those customers who will feel disposed to pay him ready money for his work, that he will reduce the price of making to them according to the present journeymen's wages; and to prevent any supposed imposition on the one hand or disatisfaction on the other he is willing to be governed by the printed regulations of prices by which the journeymen are paid in Alexandria.
N. B. Bread, flour, beef, groceries, liquors or any thing valuable taken in exchange for clothes.
S. Drew has this day opened a tavern in the same house, where he has laid in a supply of Philadelphia and the district porter and ale, together with liquors of the best quality, and he feels confident that he shall be able to give satisfaction to all who will please to favor him with a call.—He is fitting up his house for the accommodation of boarders, travellers, &c. and from its central situation, good beds and stabling, together with other requisites, he presumes that it will be found a convenient establishment.

100 Dollars Reward.

RAN away on the 28th of April, from the farm of the subscriber, in Dogue Neck, Fairfax Co. Virginia, negro HARRY, aged about twenty three years, about five feet ten inches high, very black, well built, has a considerable impediment in his speech, when spoken to evinces much confusion, and replies almost unintelligibly: had on when he left home, a much worn suit of domestic cloth. I have every reason to believe that he is endeavoring to pass for a free man, and as such went off in some of the bay craft during the late fishing season. All masters of vessels are forewarned from harboring or taking into their employ said negro, under penalty of having the law rigidly enforced against them. I will give twenty dollars, if taken in the county of Fairfax, or district of Columbia; if beyond that distance, the above reward, provided he is secured in jail so that I get him again. WM. MASON.
